“ "Aunt Jean" was married to my Uncle Clarence six years before I was born, so she was a part of my life, growing up. I enjoyed when she shared things she had read in books and when I was three or four, I remember she made the best potato salad I had ever eaten. Pappy & Grandma Alice Fisher's home in rural Curryville was the setting for many family Sunday dinners, music and getting to play with cousins. Aunt Jean was usually happy and laughed a lot. Grandma Fisher called her Jeannie and Aunt Jean called her mom. I know that she had a busy life, raising a big family, and so did Grandma Alice, so they bonded closely. She was a precious soul and I know she is reunited with family & friends, who have been waiting for her. Your legacy will live through your children & grandchildren. I was honored to know you.
