Hugh was a brother, a father, grandfather and a great-grandfather. Hugh loved his family and loved spending time with them. Hugh loved all his grandchildren. He would joke and say "I can't even remember all their names", but then proceed to tell you all their names and birthdays.

Hugh loved telling stories from when he was younger. He didn't care if you had heard the story 10 times, he was still going to tell you!

“ When Uncle Junior and Sonnie got together they would usually have a wrestling match, they never hurt each other ,it was all in fun. They were very close , more like brothers than Uncle and Nephew. Even as they got older they saw each other as much as possible . I know they are rejoicing in Heaven because they are together again .
