Justin... when God called you home a piece of me went with you, for I know, that piece can never be filled again by anyone!! You were my buddy, my ride or die partner, my best friend, and many days the difference between living and existing for me.. we were tight as could be no matter the miles between us, the conversations we had and the memories we created are never ending... you my friend, are one of a kind, never to be replaced or forgotten about.. I will always cherish our time together here on earth... and when God calls me home... you better be waiting there to greet me, to guide me, to make me laugh, to make my heart fill up again and to share everything with, to be able to fulfill that emptiness your loss created. I love you as if you were my own son, always and forever Justin.. always and forever... my deepest love for you my friend "A", from your friend "B" ~♡~♡~♡

“ It's now 2025. I never got to chance to say hello to you, and I'm your niece, Savanna. Life has been hard, the school I used to go to never did anything bout me being bullied, and people don't like me cause of my disability, well I'm in 5th grade now. And 11, been 9 or 10 years since you died. I forgot, and I wish I could say hi to you. If anyone finds this in the future, remember this is the effect of losing a loved one.

“ We were so blessed to have been able to take a vacation together recently, and get to know Justin better. Kristi, Kaylee, Kyle, Kensley - please know you are all in our prayers daily, but especially now and in the future. There's not a day that goes by that we don't think of y'all. Papa and I are here for you any time and love all of you to Jupiter and back!

“ I have so many memories I could share, the skateboarding down the road, the bike riding over the ramp in my backyard, the family camping trips and vacations we use to go on together, the holidays we all celebrated together. But really the one thing that sticks out the most was his smile, it was one of a kind. He will be missed by many as he touched a lot of people's lives, one thing I do know is that if you had the chance to meet him you would not forget him. I am sorry for the family's loss and wish I could find some words of comfort, I know that there aren't any at this time. He will be greatly missed. RIP Justin, may you fly high with the Angels.

So sad for your loss! The first time I saw Justin was at TG&Y at Hannibal when he was just a baby. Lisa stopped by the back office to see me after I had moved to Hannibal.
