“ I'm posting to this obit, not because I was close to Steve, rather He worked at Bowling Green Lumber, and was helping us with getting a couple of bedrooms constructed for our grandkids. He was a good man. I looked forward to my trips to the lumber yard, because I could depend on Steve to help us through the many changes and revisions to our plans. He hung in there with us. He was a straight shooter, and a good listener, patient, and dependable. I called the lumber yard yesterday because I needed to order more materials, and asked for Steve, knowing that he would be there to help me. The man on the phone told me that Steve had died two days earlier. My heart sank. It's not that often that I meet a man that I can respect for his virtue. I would leave that lumber yard, working with Steve, thinking that I want to be more like that guy. As a customer of Bowling Green Lumber, I feel a sense of loss, and as a person, I grieve for his family and co-workers. Rest in peace Steve.
